

ECOLOGY

Seasons Ecology is an ecological consultancy providing expert technical support on a range of development and conservation projects at the design, planning and implementation stage. We operate out of offices in Bath and Wellington in Somerset and work on small to large scale projects throughout the south west and the wider UK.

Kate Hayward and Hannah Maben (the partners) collectively have over 25 years experience within the field of ecology and are actively involved in the management of all projects.

Our hands-on approach reflects our belief that it is important for you to have direct access to this experience throughout the course of your project, and maintains our understanding and relationships with our clients.

Our staff are all full members of the Chartered Institute of Ecology and Environmental Management (MCIEEM) and between them hold mitigation licenses for bats, badgers and great crested newts and survey licences for bats and great crested newts.

Services

- Protected species surveys
- Phase 1 habitat surveys
- Vegetation/habitat surveys A(Botanical/NVC)
- Technical reports and reviews
- Project management
- Programming
- Ecological screening and scoping
- Masterplanning
- Planning applications
- Ecological Impact Assessments
- European Protected Species Licences
- Badger licences
- BRE Ecology Reports
- Statutory and public consultation