Our Residential Development work is fast growing. We know from experience that property values are significantly enhanced by providing high-quality landscape design.

With the continuous demand for new housing, Cambium works with a variety of architects and developers to enhance the quality of schemes and deliver good places in the South West of England.

Cambium works in the social housing sector, alongside local authorities and housing associations, delivering urban regeneration projects, designing both communal and private landscaped areas within new housing developments and housing refurbishment projects for both social and private tenants.

Working closely with the architect, engineer and client we are able to develop attractive and valuable landscape schemes which satisfies the requirements of all parties.

“Landscape thinking delivers good places – and good places are profitable for all.”
